

JAPANESE NO MENACE

Warren Harding's Not Endangered By The Orient.
The National Bank of Commerce in New York declares in the September issue of its magazine, Commerce Monthly, that the Japanese menace to the United States since 1914 emphasis on the important economic relationship between the two countries, and the possibility of such competition on a considerable scale, says Commerce Monthly, "is to be determined partly by general conditions, and partly by the conditions in these industries where Japanese competition seems most likely."

Potter To Leave K. S. A. C.

A. A. Potter, dean of engineering and director of the engineering experiment station, Kansas State Agricultural College, has resigned to become dean of engineering of Purdue university, Lafayette, Ind., one of the strongest engineering schools in the West. Dean Potter has been at the college since 1905, working up from an instructorship. During the war he was in charge of vocational training of drafted men for one-sixth of the United States. The position at Purdue pays Dean Potter $6,000 a year, a considerable increase over his salary here. He will be succeeded here by Roy A. Seaton, professor of applied mechanics since 1914 and captain of engineers in the war.

HOW SALVATION ARMY IS AN AID

Every Facility for Social Relief Now Open to Boone County.

HAS SIXTEEN AGENCIES

Home Service Program of Organization Outlined in Detail Here.

When a Salvation Army board was organized in Boone County recently it meant, according to army officials, that every facility of the Salvation Army for social relief is placed at the disposal of every resident of the county. The work is part of the Army's home service program.

While the Salvation Army with its trained workers specializes in all kinds of social, religious and charitable work it has sought to make plain its activities by grouping the sixteen principal ones. These sixteen principal agencies follow:

Emergency Department—A relief branch available for immediate service in the event of any disaster.

Missing Friends Bureau—For the location of persons in any part of the civilized world, whose whereabouts are unknown.

Juvenile Industrial and Agricultural Schools—Where physically and morally sound citizens are developed from delinquent boys and girls, and where orphans are reared and educated.

Boys' Friend Bureau—To care for the lad without funds or friends who would be thrown, otherwise, upon his own resources in a strange community.

Young Women's Boarding Homes—In which girls of small incomes may obtain good food and clean, attractive quarters at prices within their reach.

Rescue and Maternity Homes—To shield and care for the girl whose innocence has been betrayed.

Industrial Homes—Men who have become derelicts are here restored to wage-earning class.

Working Men's Hotels—Where a poor man may find a clean bed at a nominal price and surroundings that make for his moral and spiritual regeneration.

Free Employment Bureau—To obtain jobs for the chronically unemployed.

Prison Work—Caring for the families of prisoners and rehabilitating the released prisoner in respectable society.

Stim Settlements—Where practical assistance is extended to those who drift into the lowest depths of city life.

Fresh Air Camps—Conducted to give summer outings to mothers and children of the poor of crowded city sections.

Christmas Dinners—Furnished to poor families and needy individuals.

Anti-Suicide Bureau—Which has met with marked success in the arrest of this malady.

Work Among Service Men—Continuance of the well-known war record of the Salvation Army among those men still in uniform.

Field or Evangelistic Work—Preaching the gospel in language suited to the simplest of men, with the hope of insuring decision for Christ; recruiting and re-claiming agency for all churches.

JONES BILL HITS JAPAN

Some Indignation in Shipping Circles There.

By United Press.

TOKYO, Sept. 3.—While there is considerable indignation and consternation in shipping circles here as a result of the passage at Washington of the Jones merchant marine bill, at least some Japanese are able to see Japan is not in position to object with any great degree of justice, as long as she herself has on her statute books laws which operate against foreigners.

Already there have been a number of protests sent to the government by various organizations of shipping and business men, but no hint has yet been given as to what form the cabinet's protest will take.

In memorials forwarded to the government the provisions of the bill that are most objectionable to Japanese interests are: (1) prohibition of foreign ships from entering American harbors where they engage in competition with American ships by means of rebates, etc.; (2) inclusion of the Philippines with the scope of the coastwise shipping law, thus preventing foreign bottoms from engaging in trade between the Philippines and the United States; (3) prohibition of special overland freight rates, and (4) imposition of customs dues against foreign shipping.

Various predictions have been made as to what the effect of the operation of the bill will be on Japanese shipping.

Thus it has been claimed that it will effect eighty per cent of the Japanese merchant marine, and that, as a consequence, the big Nippon Yusen Kaisha and Osaka Shosen Kaisha liners may be withdrawn from North American trade, being placed on the South American run instead in the hope of developing this business, which showed considerable growth during war years, but which has since then been dwindling.

NO HARDING NICKNAME

One Time Years Ago His Boy Friends Called Him "Doc."

By United Press.

MARION, O., Sept. 3.—Despite the opportunity afforded by his middle name, Warren Gamaliel Harding has entirely escaped having a nickname, so far as anyone in Marion can discover. Many years ago a few boy playmates called him "Doc" because his father was a doctor but the nickname never stuck.

Harding's secretary, George B. Chris, said the mild cynic.

"I suppose you are right," replied the patient philosopher. "Your enemies are the ones who will really enjoy it."
